BCA Studios broke all records this fall, including most adult students, most classes and most revenue. Over all education is hitting stride their stride at 405. This fall, more adult day time classes were piloted and a success. Going forward there is focus on youth, how to serve more of them. The King Street partnership has expanded and a similar new Sara Holbrook partnership has been formed. BCA has outgrown the family clay drop in model, new ticketed format has been successful, allowing for even greater access through scholarships. Gallery Education under the leadership of Heather has been very successful, especially Family Art Saturday. Piloting a new adult program sponsored by AARP. Doreen hosted a meeting with Parks and Rec and the Library to discuss cross-departmental youth programming.

c. Public Art Committee-Sara Katz
Great Streets is a project on St. Paul with a varied group of finalists including local and national artists. There will be two full afternoon presentations, with a final announcement following a reconvening of the panel.

5. Board Mentor Program-John Gonter
There have been varied levels of activation with the mentor program over the years-newest board members have been paired up with more experienced members. The goal is to revitalize and formalize the program to create professional development opportunities for board members and greater continuity on the board. We have matched our newest board members with senior members of the board. We will provide more guidance to mentors/mentees and the board as a whole in future meetings.
